Topic tasks

Each firm gets its own figures. The method is the same.

1 Recruit from where

Round 1

You need a new sales manager. No one in the firm has ever managed a team.

Which method fits best, and why?

- A Internal: quicker and cheaper
- B External: brings the skills needed
- C Internal: they know the firm
- D Induction: train someone on day one

ANSWER

✓ External: brings the skills needed

Why: No one inside has the skills, so recruiting externally fits best.

2 Promote from within

Round 1

You fill a sales manager job by promoting your best salesperson.

Which two are benefits of this?

- A Cheaper than advertising the job
- B Leaves no job to fill
- C They already know the firm
- D A wider choice of people
- E Brings new ideas from outside

ANSWER

✓ Cheaper than advertising the job
✓ They already know the firm

Why: Internal recruitment is quick, cheap and known, but brings no new ideas.

3 Recruitment steps

Round 2

You recruit a new technician.

Put the steps in order, first to last?

- A Interview the shortlist
- B Write the job description
- C Advertise the job
- D Write the person specification

ANSWER

1. Write the job description
2. Write the person specification
3. Advertise the job
4. Interview the shortlist

Why: The job first, then the person it needs, then the advert and the interviews.

Topic tasks

4 Cost of recruiting

Round 2

You recruit one new salesperson.

Cost of filling the job?

Job advert	£800
Two managers interview, each	£180
Induction training	2 days
New worker's pay a day	£100

£1,360

£800 + 2 × £180 + 2 × £100 = £1,360

Why: Every leaver costs the advert, the interviews and the training again.

5 College or on job

Round 3

A new technician must learn your firm's own booking system fast.

Which training fits, and why?

A A week-long college course

B On the job, with a skilled worker

ANSWER

✓ On the job, with a skilled worker

Why: A college does not teach your own system; a colleague can, at once.

6 Keep new staff

Round 3

New staff leave in their first month. They say no one showed them how the firm works.

Which change will most likely help?

A Recruiting from outside

B Better induction training

C College courses next year

D Higher starting pay

ANSWER

✓ Better induction training

Why: Induction introduces new staff to the firm, its people and its rules.

Final questions

Each pupil answers 6 final questions on recruitment and training. They come from these 10 questions.

1 What is the main purpose of a job description?
✔ To set out the duties and responsibilities of a job

2 A dealer advertises a team-leader vacancy only to current employees. What is one likely advantage?
✔ Its staff are known and promotion motivates

3 A workshop needs a specialist EV technician but nobody currently has the qualification. Why use external recruitment?
✔ It can bring the missing skill into the business

4 The only EV technician is unexpectedly absent for two weeks. Which preparation would have reduced this risk?
✔ Training a second employee in EV work

5 New diagnostic software goes live next month. Which training plan best limits errors and downtime?
✔ Practical supplier-led training plus a competency check before independent use

6 A dealership fills a sales manager vacancy by promoting one of its own sales staff. Which type of recruitment is this?
✔ Internal recruitment

7 Which document describes the skills and experience a technician should have?
✔ A person specification

8 Why might a dealer recruit externally for an electric-vehicle specialist?
✔ Nobody inside has the skills yet

9 A dealer fills a sales manager job by promoting one of its own salespeople. What is one advantage of this?
✔ The person already knows the business

10 A dealer lists the skills, qualifications and qualities a new mechanic must have. What is this document called?
✔ A person specification
